Database Analysis and Design

Introduction

This document is a full exhaustive list of changes and suggestions to design a database for “Focus Company” regarding the book “Glorious Savannah”. It contains the semantic rule requests from management, the list of FDs, final set of relations, as well as universal relations that have been normalized to Fourth Normal Form and reasonings for each decision. Below is the list of requirements from management.

1. Analyze, Design, and implement a database for the attached portion of their book.
2. Produce semantic rules regarding the book.
3. Produce a set of relations that are all in 1NF, 2NF, 3NF, BCNF, and 4NF
4. Use a relational database management system (Except Access DBMS) to create, populate, and manipulate the database.

Identification of Primary Key

Definition: An attribute or a set of attributes is a primary key of the relation if it determines every attribute in the relation.

Procedure: Pick an attribute, check if every other attribute can be reached to by arrows. If it can, it is the primary key for the relation. If it is not, explore similarly all single attributes for this condition. If all single attributes are exhausted, pick two attributes and check for the same condition. Repeat this procedure by adding attributes and checking for the condition until a primary key is identified in this manner.

Primary Key for this Universal Relation: (CatID)

Convert to 1NF

Definition: A relation is in 1NF if every attribute is atomic

Procedure: Every attribute can be safely concluded as atomic in the Reduced Universal Relation because a relation must be atomic in the first place. Therefore, this relation is atomic and in 1NF.

Figures 1– Diagrams of the relations in 1NF

Convert to 2NF

Definition: A relation is in 2NF if and only if:

1. It is in 1NF and
2. Every non-key attribute is Fully Functionally Dependent on the primary key.

Procedure: Decompose the 1NF relation as Follows:

Convert to 3NF

Definition: A relation is in 3NF if and only if it is:

1. in 2NF and
2. Every non-key attribute is non-transitively dependent on the primary key

Procedure: Decompose the 2NF relation as follows:

Convert to BCNF

Definition: A relation is in BCNF if every determinant is a candidate key of the relation

Procedure: all determinants are a candidate key of the relation and in BCNF.

Figures 3– Diagrams of the relations in BCNF

Convert to 4NF

Definition: A relation is in BCNF if every determinant is a candidate key of the relation

1. in BCNF and
2. There are no multi-valued dependencies

Procedure: Decompose the 3NF relation as follows:

Contribution Sheet

Our group strove to divide the work as evenly as possible between our team members. We worked together to create the semantic rules, then split up the text of Glorious Savannah between our team members. Each team member was given a roughly equal chunk of the text to create FDs for and enter into a shared excel sheet. When Michael Love quit the team, his work was redistributed among the remaining group members. Near the end of the assignment the group sought to finish off specific chunks of the project. William Curtis took charge of the Normalization process. Michael Perry created the Final report for submission. Michael Janowski populated the database and maintained the CSV and excel files for the database. Jimil Patel took the lead on SQL queries and coding. As each team member finished their section or reached a point where they needed to wait on the others they would actively help anyone else that needed it.
